

A SCALE

Presented to Each Railroad Manger This Morning.

Indications Now Point to Settlement of the Strike.

A Joint Conference Held This Afternoon by the Strike Leaders, The Railroad Managers and the State Board of Arbitration at Chicago.

Chicago, July 9.—Unless all signs fail this will be the last day of freight handlers' strike. Representatives of the strikers met this morning and formulated a new wage scale which later was presented to each of the railroad managers severally by representatives of the men employed in their respective freight houses. The work of going over the new scale then began.
These conferences will be followed this afternoon by a joint conference participated in by the railroad managers, the members of the state board of arbitration and representatives of the strikers. The new scale contemplates an increase of 2 cents an hour for truckmen and stevedores, 25 cents a day for callers, $5 a month for delivery clerks, $10 a month for checkers and $2.50 a month for coopers.

The congestion at all freight houses except those of the Illinois Central, Chicago and Northwestern, and Chicago and Eastern Illinois, continues today.
The decision of the teamsters' union as an organization, not to assist the handlers is not being taken advantage of by the railroads in the peace deliberations for fear it is believed, that the teamsters are in an angry mood and may quit work as individuals.

TYPHOID FEVER AMONG SOLDIERS.

Washington, July 9.—Word has been received by the war department of an outbreak of typhoid fever at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga Park, Georgia.
This is the first time the epidemic has appeared among the American soldiers since the Spanish-American war.
Seventy cases have occurred among the enlisted men of the Seventh cavalry in the barracks at that camp.

OH, MAMA!

GRIED THE GIRL AS SHE RAN TO THE WOMAN.

Ethel Green Bloom is Believed to be the Girl Who Was Kidnaped 21 Years Ago.

Aurora, Ill., July 9.—Nicholas Nathan of Hoboken, N. J., who came to Aurora some weeks ago searching for his long lost daughter, has made up his mind that Ethel Green Blum is his daughter.
Mary who was kidnaped twelve years ago at Hoboken. He believes there is a possibility that the child was brought to Aurora and substituted in some manner for a child who had died. Mr.
Nathan was so determined in his belief that the girl was his daughter that he sent for his wife who came from New York City. As she entered the room where Mrs. Ethel Green Blum was, the girl suddenly ran to her and cried: "Oh, Mama! oh Mama!" The attorney for Nathan said that he thought if it could not be proved that the girl was kidnaped, she would be adopted by the Nathans and will then be the sole heiress to their wealth.

War Maneuvers.

Washington, July 9.—Though Secretary Moody has sworn dire vengeance on any officer who gives out an inflicting of the great war maneuvers to be held by the army and navy in September, it is understood the plan is to make the problem an attack on New York City. The navy will attack and the army will try to repulse the invaders. The signal corps and wireless telegraphy will also be given a severe test.

SIGNS WITH NEW YORK.

New York, July 9.—John T. Mc-Graw, late chief of the Baltimore American Leaguers, signed a four years' contract today as manager and captain of the New York club. He was given absolute control of the team and has a $10,000 a year salary. He can spend all he desires for players and is generally czar of the situation.

STEEL KING

Chas. M. Schwab Will Contribute a Mile of Steel for a Road for an Automobile Club

New York, July 9.—Charles M.
Schwab, the steel king, has become so much interested in automobilism that he has offered to contribute a mile of steel for a road to be constructed by the Automobile club of America. The club could not get material in the form desired until Mr. Schwab heard of the difficulty. "I'll find it," he said.
It will be flat like an ordinary pavement.

CORPSE SAT UP

And Caused a Panic Among the Witnesses—This Findlay Man May Now Recover.

Findlay, O. July 9.—After the attending physicians had pronounced him dead and while loving friends were preparing his body for burial, the supposed mortal remains of Wm. Fenstermacher suddenly came to life causing a panic among the witnesses to the uncanny proceedings. Fenstermacher has been sick for more than a year with stomach trouble and his death has been hourly expected for several weeks past. He has a good chance of ultimately being restored to perfect health.

DEAD FISH

MAKE IT UNPLEASANT FOR NEW ORLEANS FOLKS.

Many Laborers Engaged Today in Cutting Levee to Let Water Into Harvey's Canal.

New Orleans, July 9.—Many laborers are engaged today in cutting the levee of the Mississippi river to allow the water to flow through Harvey's canal and wash out the millions of tons of dead fish. Because of the wind blowing from the direction of Harvey's canal across the river this morning, the upper portion of the city is enveloped in a stench so horrible that it is almost impossible for the inhabitants to exist. The dead fish are of a species known as the buffalo. As buffalo fish are fresh water fish, no one can offer any certain explanation of how they first got in the salt water of the bay which is an arm of the Gulf of Mexico.
It is supposed that the salt water killed them.

Town Badly Scorched.

Morrow, O. July 9.—This morning Linton's dry goods store, the town hall, Stary's implement store, two fine dwellings and the stock in the stores were burned at Clarksville.
The town has no fire department and the Morrow fire department was called and saved the main part of the town.

Steamers Collide.

Newport, R. I., July 9.—The mammoth Fall River steamer Priscilla had to be towed back to port this morning.
While en route to New York she collided with the steamer Powhattan. A fireman on the Priscilla was killed and several other persons were injured but the damage to the vessel is slight.
The steamers were in a heavy fog.
The Powhattan cut into the port bow of the Priscilla for 20 feet, filling two compartments. It stopped the electric plant and left the ship utterly dark.
The Priscilla began sinking, but the pumps were set to work and kept the water out of the rest of the ship. Spies did discipline was maintained and the only fatality was that of Fireman Muniz who was killed in his bunk.

Corn Tumbles.

Chicago, July 9.—Following the decline from 90c to 87c during the closing minutes of Tuesday's session on the board of trade, July corn this morning continued to tumble, opening at 86. The market was lifeless, and the trade was exceedingly small.

TRACY

Proves More Than A Match For Pursuers.

THE OUTLAW MAKES ANOTHER
DARING ESCAPE.

BLOODHOUNDS TAKE THE TRAIL.

Thousand Men Join in Pursuit of Mur-derer, Convict and Robber—Indians on Watch.

Since Harry Tracy has been at liberty the following means have been employed in attempting his capture: One revenue cutter, one steam launch, one tug, two companies of state militia, four sheriffs, ten posses, forty Indians, four bloodhounds and one skiff. Since his escape from the penitentiary at Salem, Oregon, Tracy has killed several men and wounded others. He began his career of crime in 1897 by killing a deputy sheriff.
In escaping from prison June 9 he killed three guards. For weeks he has dodged officers and militia and he has killed one of his pursuers.
A reward of $5000 has been placed on his head.

Seattle, Wash., July 9.—Harry Tracy, the fugitive Oregon convict who has killed seven men and wounded several others since June 9, is being pursued by men and dogs in the country southeast of Seattle. His pursuers, with two bloodhounds are only a short distance behind him.

Tracy made another extraordinary escape from one of the posses yesterday afternoon. Word was received that Tracy had been at the house of a Mrs. Gerald, near Renton, for five hours. Fifty armed men hastened to the scene. The peculiar actions of Mrs. Gerald convinced them that Tracy was still in the house. On the arrival of Sheriff Cuddehe the posse closed in, only to learn that Tracy had left the house by a rear door 10 minutes before, hid for a few minutes in some of the bushes and then slipped through the woods toward Palmer.

In the back yard of the Gerald home Anderson, the man whom Tracy had kept a prisoner from the time he left Port Madison, was found tied to a tree.
Tracy had tied Anderson while the posse was in full view of the house.

The bloodhounds were let loose on his trail. Fully 1000 armed men are now engaged in the pursuit.

Forty Indians are watching for the fugitive in Kitsap county and the coast of the lower Sound is being patrolled.

Seattle, Wash., July 9.—All trace has again been lost of Harry Tracy, the fugitive convict whom the officers thought they had in a trap Tuesday from which he could not escape. After making his escape from Gerald's ranch house, pursued by bloodhounds and officers he swam a creek, doubled on his track and scattered cayenne pepper. The dogs got their noses full of pepper and lost much time in resuming the pursuit. The scent was finally lost at the lake, which Tracy had evidently waded. The chase was temporarily given up at this point.

Again On Trail

Seattle, July 9.—(Bulletin)—Blood-hounds have again got the scent and Tracy may be captured any time. It is known that the hot pursuit has kept him without sleep since Saturday.

SOFFEL

Whose Wife is in Penitentiary for Helping Biddies to Escape, Wants a Divorce.

Pittsburg, Pa. July 9.—Peter K. Soffel, the ex-warden, has begun a divorce suit against his wife, Katherine, who helped the Biddie boys to escape. Mrs.
Soffel who is now in the penitentiary will not contest the suit. Soffel is now a trackman for the Wabash railway.

CORONATION

Is to be a Comparatively Simple Affair in August—Few Royal Relatives to Attend.

London, July 9.—Truth today says that everything except the essential parts will be cut from the coronation services so that it will last for one and a half hours only. A few royal relatives will come to the ceremony, but the foreign courts will be represented only by the resident ambassadors. The ceremonies will last but one day and be held in August.

MADE UP PURSE

And Presented the Money to the Little Girl Who Had Saved the Train.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 9.—Edw.
Finkle, 15 years old, and his 13 year old sister, were gathering berries near the tracks of the Poughkeepsie and Eastern railroad yesterday when he saw that the rail had spread. Just then he heard the whistle of the locomotive of an approaching train.

Young Finkle's sister was wearing a red dress. He had her divest herself of this garment and running down the track succeeded with its aid in stopping the train before it reached the point of danger. The passengers made up a purse which will buy little Miss Finkle a number of dresses.

BEAL LAW.

ATTORNEYS HAVE DECLARED IT UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Special Legislation That Appears to be General is Contention—Test Suit at Cambridge.

Columbus, O., July 9.—News comes from Cambridge, Ohio, that the first action to test the constitutionality of the Beal local option bill was instituted there yesterday. John Lloyd, a saloon keeper, was arrested and taken before a country justice of the peace, in accordance with a prearranged plan of the brewers Lloyd opened his saloon and his arrest followed. A writ of habeas corpus was drawn in this city. Because it is to test the one temperance law enacted by the last Legislature the case is of unusual importance.

The contention is urged that the law is unconstitutional on the wide ground that it is legislation of a general nature made application to certain localities. The argument is made that it differs from the township local option law in that this last named statute provides for local option in political divisions constituted by the Ohio constitution, and because the township local option law may be made operative in every section of the state while the Beal bill applies only to territory within municipalities.

The statement is made that the Beal bill is void because it violates the first provision of Article 2, Section 26 of the constitution; that all laws must be of a general nature and of uniform application. The petition in habeas corpus sets forth that the Beal law provisions purport to be included in a general law, but they are really applicable only to citizens within a municipality.

It further contravenes the constitution and bill of rights by not providing a jury, or for the selection of a jury, to try the crime within the district where the crime was committed, for if tried by a jury the jury would be from the territory or district wherein the crime was not committed, and therein the crime could not be committed.

The petition raises the further question that taxpayers outside of a municipality, where a law is alleged to have taken effect, are obliged to bear the expense of the jury, prosecution and punishment, and, notwithstanding be so taxed, the same taxpayers get no benefit from fines and forfeited bonds collected, all such revenues being paid into the treasury of the municipality.

Knoxville, Tenn., July 9.—Nancy Jones, one of the three revolutionary war pensioners, died here Tuesday.

AUGUST 25

Date Selected for Special Session of Legislature.

Compromise Between the Federal and the Board Plans.

Crew Appointed Supreme Judge—After a Conference With Hanna
the Governor Makes Public Date of Legislature Meeting—Outline of Proposed Law.

Put-in-Bay, July 9.—(Bulletin)—The Nash-Hanna-Dick municipal code bill will not have an undisputed right of way. The Senator Foraker and Harry Daugherty men have been snubbed, and they will get up a rival code bill for submission. They will come out for a modified federal plan of government.

Put-in-Bay, Ohio, July 9.—The special session of the Legislature will be called to meet at Columbus on August 25.
Judge W. B. Crew will be appointed to fill the vacancy on the Supreme bench caused by the death of Justice Williams. A compromise between the Federal and the board plans of municipal government will be formulated for presentation as a municipal code to the Legislature.

This is, in brief, a synopsis of what has been accomplished. The details of the form of municipal government to be recommended to the Legislature have not yet been agreed upon, but the general form of the bill has been outlined.

Senator Hanna, General Dick, John R. Malloy and others arrived during the morning. They called upon Governor Nash and spent the greater part of the day and evening with him. As a result the date of the session of the Legislature was definitely agreed on, and it is stated on good authority that Judge Crew will be appointed, while a compromise form of city government has been tentatively formed.

The members of the Committee of Conference found that their work was by no means easy. Every man who was invited to appear had a different idea. Some had complete codes. The conference will close tonight and by that time the work of preparing the bill will be under way. But in effect it has already been decided to offer to the Legislature for passage a bill embodying the following form of municipal government:

1 That the Mayor, the Treasurer, the City Auditor, the City Solicitor and possibly one other officer shall be elected by direct vote, with a Board of Legislation, to be known as the City Council

2 That the Board of Legislation shall be invested with the right to either appoint boards to fulfill the functions of city government, or to order the election of such boards by the people

3 That the Board of Legislation shall be strictly prohibited from exercising either executive or judicial functions. They shall, however, have full power to pay such salaries to the members of the boards named as they please. They may, within certain limits, prescribe the duties and powers of the boards

4 The boards shall be named by the Legislature in the code bill, and will probably consist of a Board of Public Service, entrusted with the duties of the board of this name in Cincinnati.

5 That debt limit of the municipalities shall be fixed by legislative enactment, and will probably be placed at 1 per cent of the tax duplicate.
The advantages of this scheme which is favored in the main by Governor Nash, and which had for its hearty advocates Wade Ellis and Senator Longworth, of Cincinnati, is that it represents a flexible form of municipal government, which may be contracted or expanded according to the needs of the various municipalities. It also gives to the people of such cities the largest possible conservative scheme of municipal government. Senator Hanna, who has insisted from the beginning of the conference that he would not stand for the Federal system of city government, was induced to approve this modification or compromise, while those who could not agree to either the Federal or board plans, have been able to meet on common ground by it.

It is plainly apparent, however, that the Governor will have a hard fight to force through the Legislature his pet scheme of investing the Executive of the state with the right to appoint the Boards of Police Commissioners in all the cities of the state. Messrs. Ellis and Longworth, both of whom remember what Cincinnati police force was under a partisan management, and know what it is now, are really the only champions of the Governor's propositions.

Almost without exception the other members of the Bar Association and the politicians present oppose it, declaring that it gives far too much power to the Governor, and it is not probable that the Legislature will endorse it. Even John Malloy, who is on most topics a sturdy advocate of the Governor's plans, is outspoken in his opposition to this scheme.

Today's conference will round off the rough edges of the bill, and it will be made public.

It is possible that the committees of the two houses on municipal affairs will be asked to meet at Columbus a few weeks in advance of the special session, and take action upon the bill in the form in which it will be presented to the General Assembly for passage. If, after careful scrutiny, these committees decide to recommend it for adoption much valuable time will be saved. This is of special importance, inasmuch as the Legislators will neither be paid a dollar in salary for the work they will do during the special session, nor will they even be paid their customary mileage. It appears that back in the time of Governor Campbell State Auditor Poe established a precedent by refusing to pay mileage for special session work. The present Auditor of State, Mr. Gullbert, was then chief clerk under Mr. Poe, and agreed with him in this decision, which, in fact, is said to have been inspired by him. Under the circumstances it is not probable that he will pay mileage this year.

The practical determination to adopt the form of government outlined in the foregoing is in effect a victory for the Cincinnati crowd. Messrs. Longworth and Ellis came here prepared to fight for the enactment of a bill which would permit Cincinnati to have practically the same form of government she now has. They were forced to make one or two unimportant concessions, but in the main they were eminently successful. On the other hand, neither the Toledo, Columbus, Dayton nor Cleveland men are altogether pleased. The trouble with them is, however, that because of political complications they cannot unite on any compromise measure, and thus defeat the bill, to be drawn by Governor Nash after the Conference Committee has done its work. What suits one city by no means pleases the others.

One point in the code is still under careful consideration, and that is whether the offices to be filled by the Council, by legislative permission, shall be boards or officers of the city.
A legion of arguments have been offered for both sides of this question, but so far the balance inclines toward the election of boards. This is in effect Governor Nash's own bill, so that it

A Gentleman.

One of our readers sends a nice story about the question, "What is a gentleman?" Hearing a house carpenter spoken of as a gentleman by a furniture remover, he sought delicately for explanations. "For bless yer, sir," answered the furniture remover, "we calls every man a gentleman as pays 20 shillings in the pound."—London Globe.

To discover the location of oil through "growing pains" is a rather unique physical experience, but a man from Sioux Falls, S. And not only oil, but the location of "oil deposits of minerals, Johnson" he is able to discover by means of his abdominal aches.

His manner of prospecting is by slowly walking over the ground, and any one who is able to read his facial expression is at once able to tell the depths and richness of the deposits. It is said that Johnson came very near dying several times during a day's walk up Richland creek, so abundant was the oil deposited beneath the surface. Johnson was once badly hurt in a steel plant and has claimed his wonderful power since that time.

MEMORIAL

TO THE LATE HON. JOHN F. FOLLETT

Of Cincinnati, Formerly of Newark—A Matter of Interest to Many Licking County Citizens.

The Cincinnati Court Index publishes the following memorial to Hon. John F. Follett, formerly of Newark: "To the Honorable, the Judges of the Circuit Court of Hamilton County, Ohio:

"Gentlemen: Your committee heretofore appointed to prepare and report a memorial upon John F. Follett, a member of the bar of this county for many years, now deceased, beg leave to submit the following:

"John Fassett Follett was descended of Revolutionary stock. His great-grandfather perished in the Wyoming massacre. His family resided in Franklin county, Vermont, where he was born at Richford, that county, February 18, 1836. His father emigrated to Ohio in 1836, and settled on a farm near Johnstown, in Licking county. The elder Follett's means were slender, his family was large—the profits from farming in those days were inconsiderable, and the result was that John and his elder brothers were obliged to do farm labor as their contribution to the family's support. As a growing boy he hoed corn, chopped wood and threshed grain with a flail. Here he acquired that habit of close application which was a marked characteristic of him through life. At the nearby village was a seat of learning—Granville academy. Here he and his brother Martin, were spared long enough from their daily toil to prepare for college.

"When he was in his twenty-first year he entered Marietta college, and graduated four years later, in 1855, the first man in his class. He had borrowed the money necessary to procure a college education and while he had the law in view, as his life's work he first taught one year at the Blind Asylum, at Columbus, and one year in the Columbus High school, in order to pay off this indebtedness.

"With his debts paid, he went to Newark, Ohio, entered the office of his brother Charles, then one of the leading lawyers of the Licking County bar, and began the study of the law. He was admitted to the bar in 1858. Soon after coming to the bar he took an active part in politics in eastern Ohio. He championed the cause of the Democratic party and soon established a reputation throughout the state as a most forcible and captivating stump speaker. He belonged to the group which included Gen. George W. Morgan, John McSweeney, S. S. Cox, Gen. Tom Ewing, and Milton I. Southard, in Eastern Ohio; W. V. Armstrong and the brilliant Frank H. Hurd, at the Lakes; John A. McMahon, Durbin Ward and Lewis D. Campbell, in the Miami Valley, and George E. Pugh, George H. Pendleton, Milton Saylor and the gifted Samuel F. Hunt in Cincinnati. Amongst such a galaxy his eloquence did not suffer in comparison.

"In 1865 he was chosen to represent Licking county in the Legislature. This was the first General Assembly to be selected after the close of the Civil War. The Republican State ticket had triumphed by a large majority, Gen. Jacob D. Cox being elected from the field as Governor. Follett, although a new member, became the leader of his party on the floor of the House. In 1867, Rutherford B. Hayes had carried the state by less than three thousand, but the Democrats had succeeded in capturing both branches of the Legislature. Follett was returned for a second term in 1867, and upon the organization of the House of Representatives was chosen Speaker. At the beginning of his second term in the Legislature, a Senator of the United States to succeed Denj. F. Wade was to be elected. The leading candidates before the Democratic caucus were Allen G. Thurman who at the last election had been so narrowly defeated for the governorship by Hayes, and C. L. Vallandigham. Follett threw his support to Thurman, and he was chosen. Before the close of his second term in the Legislature he resigned his office and in the fall of 1868, removed to Cincinnati to engage in the practice of the law. He always retained his interest in political affairs and took part in nearly every state and national campaign after he left the Legislature, and during this time spoke in all parts of the country. The demands for his services were far greater than he had physical ability to grant. In 1879 he received ed from Marietta College the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

"At the Democratic State Convention in 1880 he was unanimously chosen as an elector at large on the Hancock and English Presidential ticket. He was a candidate before the Democratic State convention in 1881 for Governor, but was defeated by John W. Bookwalter. In 1882 he was elected to the Forty-eighth Congress from the First District of Ohio, defeating Benj. Butterworth. In the Speakership contest Mr. Follett cast his fortunes with John G. Carlisle and when the latter was elected speaker, was rewarded with a place on the Committee on Appropriations, an unusual honor to be bestowed on a first term member. During his service he addressed the House of Representatives in support of the bill for the relief of General Fitz-John Porter and broadened materially his name as an orator. After the close of his single term in Congress he never held a public office. He was a candidate in 1884, to the Forty-ninth Congress, but was defeated by Mr. Butterworth, whom he had in turn defeated two years before. Again, in 1898, he was a candidate for a seat in the Fifty-sixth Congress, but with his party was again defeated.

"Upon coming to Cincinnati he was first in partnership in the practice with Gen. Durbin Ward. Later he became associated with Gov. Jacob D. Cox and Gen. Henry L. Burnett, now U. S. District Attorney for the Southern District of New York, under the firm name of Cox, Burnett & Follett. In 1873 Ben. Burnett having removed to New York City and Gen. Cox having been elected President of the Toledo, Wabash & Western railroad and removed to Toledo, Mr. Follett formed a partnership with Mr. Wm. C. Cochran, which continued for six years. In 1879 the firm of Follett & Dawson (J. M. Dawson) was formed, followed in 1881, by the firm of Follett, Hyman & Dawson (David M. Hyman).

"In 1883 Mr. Dawson, who became City Solicitor, was succeeded by Thomas H. Kelley, and the firm name became Follett, Hyman & Kelley. In 1889 Mr. Hyman withdrew from the firm to devote himself to mining, and the remaining members, under the name of Follett & Kelley, continued the practice until January 1, 1890, when John D. Follett was admitted to the firm. The firm name was changed to Follett, Kelley & Follett and so remained up to the date of the death of the subject of this sketch.

"As a lawyer he rose rapidly after locating in Cincinnati, and for many years ranked with the ablest men at the Bar in that city. Possessing a naturally logical mind, he combined with it, in an unusual degree, the power of a clear and concise statement. Few lawyers, perhaps, prepared his law applicable to their cases as carefully as did he. He was industrious to a degree, even up to the hour of going to trial in searching for authorities in support of the proposition for which he contended.

"Always a high minded, honorable, courteous gentleman, he never sought to take advantage of his adversary or of the court. Judge William H. Taft, in whose court he was often engaged, said of him that he was the fairest man who had ever appeared before him.

"While well equipped in all that goes to make up the able lawyer, it was as an Advocate that he stood out pre-eminently.

"He soon became conspicuous as a successful jury lawyer, and was frequently employed as associate counsel to make the closing argument for his side of the case. Right well might it be said of him, as of Philip Brinsley Sheridan, that no one followed him upon the same subject save in worse words.

"He was identified with much of the important litigation in the courts. Federal and state, located in Hamilton county, Ohio, for upwards of thirty years. The earliest cases with which he was connected were the famous Mail Boat cases growing out of the collision of the Louisville Mail Line steamers 'American' and 'United States' on the Ohio river, near Warsaw, Kentucky, on the night of December 4, 1868, and which cases involved the construction to be given to certain policies of marine insurance. These were soon succeeded by the 'Whisky Cases' in which the Federal Government sought to recover from certain distillers of spirits in Miami county, Ohio, heavy penalties—in one case not less than half a million dollars—for alleged violations of the Internal revenue law. In the case mentioned Mr. Follett and Hon. George Hoady represented the distiller, Sidney L. Chaffee, and succeeded in all but clearing him entirely, the verdict against him being for only five hundred dollars, although at the first trial a verdict had been rendered against him of over $225,000.

"In the case of the Western Union Telegraph Company against Davenport (97 U. S. 369), he obtained for two minor children the re-issue of seven hundred and eighty shares of the stock of the Telegraph company which had under a forged transfer and power of attorney endorsed on it, been sold and transferred on the books of the corporation.

"The claim of the administrator of John H. Piatt against the United States (22 Wallace, 946) after several failures by counsel eminent in the state and nation was successfully concluded by him and resulted in a recovery in 1875, through the consideration of the Supreme court of the United States of a judgment of over $136,000 for the heirs of Piatt, for rations furnished by him to the Northwestern army in 1814 and in 1815.

"In the case of John H. Piatt's heirs against Longworth's devisees, executors, et al (27 O. S. 159) he obtained a very large recovery of real estate in Cincinnati against administrators on the ground that they had been interested as purchasers in their own sales of the lands of their intestate.

"He also settled the law in Ohio that a railroad company under its contract with the traveling public as a common carrier is liable in damages to a passenger injured while riding in a sleeping car company's train, although the injuries complained of may have been occasioned by the negligence of the employees of the sleeping car company (38 O. S. 461.)

"The practice of the criminal law seldom offers tempting financial rewards, and this branch of the law did not seem peculiarly attractive to him, but the few times when he was engaged in the trial of criminal cases he acquitted himself with great credit.

"In June, 1871, when he was still a young man, he crossed swords with brilliant but erratic Vallandigham, in the celebrated Tom McGeehan case, at Butler county, Ohio, first degree murder case, taken to Warren county on change of venue, a case that attracted attention throughout the country. He was employed to assist the state, George R. Sage, afterward Judge of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio, being the Prosecuting Attorney. McGeehan was defended by Vallandigham. The case after being brilliantly contested for many days, suddenly closed, and was continued to a subsequent term by reason of Vallandigham accidentally shooting himself in his room in the hotel in an effort to demonstrate how the deceased had met his death.

"In 1889 he went to Nebraska and defended a young physician, a near relative of his partner who was indicted for murder in the first degree and charged with having caused the death of a woman and her unborn child through the making of a surgical operation known as abdominal section. Mr. Follett's client had been a resident of the State of Nebraska but a short time, and the sympathy of the community was all directed against him. So enraged were the relatives and friends of the deceased that they came armed to the Court House during the trial and so threatened the life of the prisoner that he had to be guarded by the Sheriff and a posse during the entire hearing. Mr. Follett's appeal to the jury was a masterly piece of fervid oratory and the result was that his client was triumphantly acquitted.

"His last appearance in the Supreme Court of Ohio was in March of the present year, in the case of the Cincinnati & Hamilton 'Tumple' company against the Village of McHealthy, in which he sought to reverse the judgments of the Common Pleas and Circuit Courts of Hamilton county. The trial Judge, after the jury had reported that they were unable to agree, in a supplemental charge, had used such forcible language concerning the duty of the jurors to agree that a verdict was forthcoming almost instantly. Mr. Follett contended that the trial Judge had overstepped his authority in the supplemental charge and in this contention he was successful, for the Supreme court declined to affirm the judgments of the lower courts.

"Once he had been retained, he almost always had the benefit of no very best services and energies—and this oftentimes without compensation. That the amount involved in a controversy in which he was engaged was small, in no wise diminished his interest and enthusiasm in his client's behalf. Of sanguine, hopeful temperament, he never conceded ultimate defeat until the court of last resort had pronounced against him.

"His gifts as a public speaker brought him into much prominence. A year seldom passed without his being pressed into service a number of times. His public addresses other than political ones were many and varied. In most instances he spoke without notes and his happiest efforts were those which had the flavor of an inspired occasion behind them.

"In 1896, owing to the illness of the President of the State Bar Association, Mr. Follett, as Senior Vice-President, was called upon on short notice to deliver the annual address. It was prepared under pressure in a very few days amidst the other work which comes to a busy lawyer, and elicited much favorable comment.

"The last address of importance which he delivered was before the Bar Association of Toledo, Ohio, on February 1, 1901, on the Life, Character and Work of Chief Justice John Marshall. This paper was prepared with extreme care after much reading and research and was a production in which he took a justifiable pride.

"No man was ever more fondly devoted to his family than he. He was the romping playmate and companion of his children when they were young and came to be their confidant and adviser in everything when they were grown up. Of simple habits and unostentatious manners, he was the most approachable of men. To meet him even casually one was bound to respect and admire him—to love him well was to love him.

He was not the only member of his family to achieve prominence at the Bar. His brother Charles, of Newark, Ohio, with whom he read law, was a Judge of the Common Pleas fifteen years, and of the Circuit Court ten years. Another brother, Martin D. of Marietta, Ohio, served a term as Judge of the Supreme Court of the state. For the last thirteen years of his life he was a member of the Board of trustees of the Cincinnati College.

"He died at his home in Clifton, Cincinnati, on the evening of April 15, 1902, after an illness of only six days, and left surviving a widow and four children, three sons and a daughter.

"During his busy, active life of more than three score years and ten, he rendered distinguished service to his state and country in the halls of legislation; he brought honor and fame to his college for which he cherished a lasting affection; he did not fall below any of his fellows in his chosen profession; and when his lips, which he had never betrayed a man or cause, were sealed in death, he had the unqualified esteem and affection of all who knew him.

"Surely, after life's fitful fever, he sleeps well."

A special from Paris to the New York Herald states that railroad travelers in France have hitherto suffered great inconvenience from lost or missing luggage. M. Cros, an engineer, has invented a system to avoid this.

He proposes that packets of gummed labels be sold, printed with pictures of different animals, for affixing to baggage. As 2,000 varieties will be called into service there is not much fear that two travelers will use the same label. NOT GUILTY

IS THE VERDICT IN THE AMES BRIBERY CASE.

But the Grand Jury Has Followed up the Affair and Has Returned More Indictments.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 9.—In the acquittal of Police Superintendent Fred W. Ames, yesterday afternoon of the charge of bribe taking, was embraced the most startling incident that the current municipal corruption scandal has developed. But the surprise that the verdict occasioned was merged with interest in the intelligence that the grand jury last evening returned an additional batch of seven indictments bearing on the purchase of police protection for the operation of illicit establishments. It is understood that Police Superintendent Ames and his brother, the Mayor, are involved in the charges contained in some of the bills.

The jury retired to consider its verdict in the Superintendent's case at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening and reported its agreement yesterday afternoon. It is understood that Judge Simpson entered the courtroom prepared to pass sentence at once.

County Attorney Boardman indignantly declared, after the adjournment of court, that the evidence on which former Special Officer Irwin A. Gardner and Detective Nathan C. L. Wing were convicted was not so conclusive as the testimony offered in the Ames trial. Fully two score witnesses were examined by the grand jury and their examination was followed by the return of seven indictments.

What is regarded as of importance concerning the witnesses examined yesterday is the fact that all are concerned with only one phase of the corruption exposure, the levying of tribute on the women of the downtown resorts. It was as the collector of these assessments that Irwin A. Gardner is said to have served.

In the trial which resulted in Ames' acquittal the charge involved the specific statement that, at a certain hour, Lincoln G. Crossman, a confidence worker, paid Superintendent Ames $25 as his share of profit from a swindling operation. It appears that the jury found opportunity to weigh Crossman's word against the testimony of Ames and returned its verdict on the basis of that test.

In the indictments returned yesterday it is understood that the testimony of more than 40 witnesses will be available to prove a single case of bribe collection.

will be seen that he will be in truth the author of the code, provided that it is adopted by the Legislature.

Representative Comings, the author of the code bill which failed in the last General Assembly, was a member of the conference, and brought a copy of his bill along. But Mr. Comings' bill received only slight consideration. Governor Nash declared that he found too many errors in it to make it worth while and as a result the new code bill is built of new material. Another code which has been presented to the Governor is the product of the State Board of Commerce, and it is fathered by Judge Gilbert Stewart, of Columbus, and Allen Ripley Foote.

This scheme presented the advantage of novelty to say the least. Briefly it provided that the municipalities of the state should be divided into the two great classes of municipalities and villages, and that within 30 days after the passage of the bill municipal conventions should be called in every such municipality for the purpose of selecting not less than five nor more than fifteen delegates to a constitutional convention.

At such convention a constitution or charter for each separate municipality should be selected, which, after ratification by popular vote, should be forwarded to the Secretary of State, to be placed on file. In return this official should issue a charter. The constitutional conventions in the various cities were given unlimited powers as to the form of government they should decide on, except that a low debt limit was fixed. This scheme, however, was very briefly considered.

In addition to the conference on the municipal matter, Senator Hanna had another conference with Burton as to the latter's remaining on the ticket in Cleveland. Nothing was settled. Burton is determined, according to his lieutenant, John Goldenbogen to win something more than the very empty honor of selecting and paying the expense of a separate campaign committee for himself. Hanna will not give him anything more. Goldenbogen says that he is sure Burton will not remain on the ticket. Burton doesn't say what he will do, but it is the general belief that he will accept Hanna's terms. He was a passenger on the steamer which brought Hanna and Dick to the island today, but was slighted so far as being "conferred with" over his wrongs. Both the latter gentlemen seem to have a distinct distaste for further discussion of that subject.

Senator Foraker was not present. He was not invited. This was construed by some as a slight to the Senator, especially in view of the fact that half a dozen well known Foraker leaders are present, but up to date none of them have been invited into the inner tabernacle.

NASH'S MESSAGE.
Columbus, Ohio, July 9.—Governor Nash wired from Put-in-Bay to his private secretary, F. N. Sinks, as follows: "The General Assembly will be called in extraordinary session on August 25."

BOARD PLAN MAY WIN.
Put-in-Bay, July 9.—(Bulletin)—It looks now like a victory for the board plan of municipal government. The scheme so far as agreed on for all cities includes the Mayor, City Auditor, Treasurer and Solicitor to be elected by the people; a board of public service to be elected, a police board to be appointed by the governor and a health board to be elected probably by the council. Hanna, Dick and Burton returned to Cleveland this afternoon. Governor Nash will consult the lawyers now.

Hon. J. H. Sauer, State Senator from Douglas Co., to the Nebraska Legislature, writes from Frank's Hotel, Omaha, Neb., as follows:

"Having tried Peruna I can commend it to all as a great tonic and particularly good as a remedy for catarrh."

H. H. SAUER.
Honorable Patrick Kennedy, Member of the Massachusetts Legislature, writes the following letter from the House of Representatives, Boston.

Dear Sir:—"I have no hesitation in saying that after having tried dozens of other remedies without relief, I owe my perfect health and clear voice of today to Peruna. I know it to be a sure cure for indigestion and its attendant affliction, nervous debility. For the six weeks that I was on the platform through the recent campaign I used Peruna regularly, and although I spoke two and three times each day my voice never failed me. I know that Peruna is a reliable cure for bronchial troubles."

P. J. Kennedy.
If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

INVITED WIFE

To Watch Him Kill Himself, But Electrical Superintendent Kincart's Aim Was Bad.

Lebanon, Ky., July 9.—Because his wife refused to let him read a letter she had received, B. S. Kincart, superintendent of the Lebanon Light Company, dramatically said to her that he would end it all. He then invited her into the front room of the house to see the deed done, but she politely declined the invitation.

A few moments later four shots rang out, and when the family rushed to the scene they found Mr. Kincart lying on the floor apparently in great agony. Several physicians were summoned and an examination disclosed that he had been struck by only one bullet, which had done nothing more than give him a slight wound in the arm.

COOL

And Self-possessed Was Miss Morrison.

WHEN SENTENCED TO PRISON FOR 25 YEARS.

STARES OF CROWD UNHEEDED

When Murderer of Mrs. Castle Was Sent to Penitentiary—She Scored the Judge.

Eldorado, Kas., July 9.—Jessie Morrison, convicted June 28 of murder in the second degree for killing Mrs. Olin Castle at the latter's home here in June, 1900, by cutting her throat with a razor, has been sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary.

A motion for a new trial, a motion in arrest of judgment and a plea that sentence be postponed were successively overruled. Sentence was then pronounced upon Miss Morrison, who sat down without saying a word or shedding a tear. She was cool and self-possessed.

No emotion was displayed on the part of her father and brother, and after the Judge had given the attorneys 50 days in which to file a bill of exceptions, Miss Morrison arose and followed the Sheriff to her cell, accompanied by her father and brother. She passed from the room unharmed of the staring crowd. In the hall the aged father and brother sat down besides Miss Morrison on a bench and discussed the sentence. Miss Morrison said:

"The Judge has been against me from the first and was bound to convict me. I expected no mercy from him and did not get any mercy. I don't consider it a fair trial and believe the Supreme Court will again reverse the case."

The Morrison case has cost the county $12,000.

SURPRISE

Was the Wedding of Mr. Thomas Osborne and Miss Hattie E. Hall, Both of Newark.

Mr. Thomas Osborne, a well known glass worker at the Everett glass works, and Miss Hattie E. Hall, daughter of Mrs. George McDermott of 45 Railroad street, were married on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the parsonage of the First M. E. church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. E. Johnson. Mr. and Mrs. Osborne went to the home of the groom's father, Mr. William Osborne, in the North End, where they will remain for a short time, when they will go to housekeeping. The marriage was a great surprise to the friends and relatives of the contracting parties, not even the mother of the bride being informed of it.

HORSEHAIR SNAKES.

Peculiar Habits of These Threadlike Little Serpents.

The "horsehair snakes" are small, flesh colored mites which live principally in stagnant water. After going through various transformations they come to the surface of the water in the shape of very slender, purplish looking threads. When they reach this last stage, they leave the water and work their way up the stalks and leaves of aquatic plants. When opportunity affords, they attach themselves to the feet, legs, wings and other parts of larger insects, often, as one authority states, creeping under the wing case of beetles. In the case of the cricket, katydid, grasshopper and other insects of that ilk, whose legs are hollow, the tiny horsehair takes the advantage and creeps up the hollows into the very vitals.

This accounts for the fat and clumsy condition of some individuals of the above named species, single specimens of the cricket having been caught with over two dozen of these threadlike "snakes" attached to and inside of their bodies. After heavy rains, which frequently drown crickets and katydids which are weighted down by these parasites, the "horsehair snake" emerges from the carcass of the insect a full fledged miniature serpent. In this mature state he is the delight of the curiosity seeker and a mine of study to those who delight to delve in nature's bypaths. Those which have been fortunate enough not to have been carried very far from water by the insects which they encumbered during life make their way back to the ponds to lay their eggs. They then wrap themselves around the eggs, which soon hatch into the little flesh colored mites mentioned in the opening. About this time the parent "snake" dies to make room for its progeny.

Lincoln Campbell left for Philadelphia today where he will visit for a few days.

MYSTERY
Surrounds the Disappearance of Little Ruth C. Whitacre From Town of Millersburg.

Millersburg, Ohio, July 9.—Mystery surrounds the disappearance from this city of little Ruth Clayton Whitacre, the ten year old adopted daughter of C. R. Whitacre, of Cleveland. The little girl was sent here a month ago for an outing to visit one Mr. Harrison, a faith healer and relative of the parents of the adopted child. She is a bright and attractive little girl and was brought here by Mrs. Whitacre with instructions to let no one have access to the child or to take her away. Mrs. Ida Clayton, known on the stage as Ida Belmont, is her real mother and when in New York several years ago permitted Mr. and Mrs. Whitacre to formally adopt the child.

Mrs. Clayton has been appearing in "Daisy Farm" in Cleveland and singing in the churches. On Monday she said she was going to New York, and with her trunk left Union station. Mr. Whitacre is an employee of the Westinghouse plant in Cleveland.

On Monday he asked permission for a vacation and left the city. He appeared in Millersburg and demanded the child. Relatives refused to give her up, and Mr. Whitacre took the child in her arms and left. Meantime Mrs. Whitacre in Cleveland, became suspicious and sought to have the police hold her husband and Ida Clayton, but no charges have been preferred.

Whitacre knew Mrs. Clayton before his marriage.

Wedding Novelty.
One of the most charming of innovations was carried out at a recent marriage. During the early part of the ceremony the bride stood in a ring made of a rope of flowers held by her eight bridesmaids, says the St. Louis Star. When the time came for putting on the ring, she gently broke the flower rope and joined her future husband, thereby signifying that she was leaving her girlhood days behind. The bridesmaids afterward preceded the bride out of the church, strewing the flowers from the broken rope in her pathway.

The article says:

The greatest rain fall that ever occurred in Perry township was that of Thursday last week. The rain came down in sheets, and all the streams in the surrounding country were raised to a prodigious height, resulting in much damage to crops. However, there was no loss of life to animals nor injury to people.

The funeral of the old soldier, Geo. Huffman, who was killed by the train at Black Run on July 3, took place on July 4. The deceased had been a member of Griffee Post at Frazesburg, but at the time of his death was a member of Z. P. Evans Post at Perryton. The two posts joined in the burial service. Elder Baughman of Frazesburg, delivered a most impressive discourse. A large number of friends assembled to pay the last sad tribute of love and esteem to the deceased.

The Faith Cure Sandwich.

"This," observes my companion at the quick lunch counter, "is the latest conceit of the purveyors to hungry man."

Here he showed me two thin slices of bread.

"And what is it?" I inquired, arranging my deviled crab and lemon pie artistically before me.

"This is the faith cure roast beef sandwich. You know you have the bread, but you have to turn on the faith when you wish to find the beef."

TITUS DEFEATS FIELD.

C. S. Titus, the American sculler, defeated Field, holder of the Oxford University sculls, in the fourth heat for the Diamond Sculls, the blue ribbon event in aquatic sports.

The Oxonian stuck manfully to his work for three quarters of the distance, but from here out the American drew away rapidly and Field was completely exhausted at the finish. Titus is now an even money favorite for the Diamond Sculls.

McGRAW RELEASED.

Baltimore, Md., July 9.—After a meeting of the directors of the Baltimore base ball club Tuesday. Vice President Frank said:

"The club has formally granted Mr. McGraw the release he asked for. In view of the fact that he was not in harmony with the President of the organization of which the Baltimore club is a part, it was not to the advantage of the club to retain him. The meeting was perfectly harmonious, and there is still the utmost good feeling on both sides. Mr. McGraw has now no interest of any kind in the Baltimore club; he has sold his stock amounting to $6,500 to Mr. Mahon. No director has yet been elected to succeed Mr. McGraw, but Messrs. Kelley and Robinson will succeed him as joint managers, with equal authority. The Baltimore club will receive no bonus from the New York club for the release of Mr. McGraw, as has been reported."

Mr. McGraw said: "I realize the fact that I was only a dead loss to the Baltimore club to stay here, as I would not play in the American League as long as President Johnson is President. I appreciate the kindness which has prompted the Baltimore club to give me the release I asked for, and I wish to assure them publicly that in consideration of this kindness I shall not tamper with any of the Baltimore Club's players. I also wish to affirm the statement that the Baltimore club receives not a dollar for my release."

TITUS BEATEN TODAY.

Henley-on-Thames, July 9.—While C. S. Titus of New York, won easily against all competitors yesterday in the race for the diamond sculls, he was easily beaten today in the semi-final by Kelley of Oxford.

SPORTING NOTES.

Zanesville has lost their crack battery, Chamberlin and Snodgrass, who jumped to Washington C. H. Tuesday where they were offered great salary inducements.

Matthewson seems to be in form. The last several games he has pitched he has shown great ability and the games he has lost have been by low scores. He won Tuesday 1 to 0, from Chicago.

The game at Boston Tuesday with the Athletics was an awful slugging match, the Quaker team winning out. Six pitchers were used, three by each team.

Your Vacation in Colorado? Why Not

We are going to sell tickets at less than half fare this summer so as to enable people of moderate means to spend their vacations in glorious Colorado.

It is by no means a country of high prices. Our handbook tells all about the hotels, boarding-houses and ranches, their prices, names and addresses of the proprietors, attractions within reach, rates for livery, the fishing and hunting, charges for guides, etc. Ask for a copy. No charge. And with the book we will enclose a circular telling about the railroad ticket rates and trains. It takes only one night on the road to go from Chicago to Colorado. There is no place in the world like Colorado for beauty of mountain scenery and perfection of climate—it is ideal. I have never known anyone to return from Colorado disappointed. Where could you find a more delightful place to spend your vacation?

THE DOCTOR AT PLEASANT HILL

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]

We miners of Pleasant Hill decided to have a doctor. When the ragged disciple of Esculapius came to camp with his satchel, Jim Davis, the committee's spokesman, said to him: "Stranger, do ye know yer bizness as a doctor?"

"Is thar any critter yere as says I don't?" demanded the doctor as his right hand went back for his gun.

"We want somebody who kin tell a broken leg from a case of typhoid fever," continued Jim, "and if ye are the man the job is open. The last critter took a skip becase he treated Tom Barlun fur dyspepsia instead of a broken rib. Should ye make any sich mistake as that?"

"I never make medical or surgical blunders," stifferly interrupted the new doctor as his hand went back again.

"Are ye a sensitive cuss?"

"As to my purfeshun, yes."

And the stranger drew his revolver from its holster and looked around him for a human target. The committee admired his action. He was a doctor with a human touch. He was a doctor with a human touch. He was a doctor with a human touch.

He was proud of his profession and would fight for it. The next day he entered upon his "job," and word went about the camp that we had a fighting doctor and that there was to be no fooling with him. He had a shanty by himself, and he said he had with him in his satchel all necessary drugs and surgical instruments. It was a week before he had a case. Then Abe Johnson had an attack of bilious colic—that is, a dozen of us pronounced it bilious colic, when the doctor arrived and felt of his pulse and looked at his tongue and said it was the beginning of a serious case of dropsy. As he said it his hand went back to his gun, and he looked around and listened for protestations. There was none, and he ordered that Abe should be stood on his head for five minutes to let the blood leave his feet and then stripped of all his clothes and then wrapped in a water soaked blanket. The water was ice cold at the time, and it took four of us to get the blanket around the yelling and struggling Abe and keep it there for an hour. The cure was complete. There are things which even bilious colic has to give in to, and the way we treated Abe would have scared the yellow fever out of camp in a hurry.

This remarkable cure of "dropsy" was one for the new doctor, but he didn't come out quite so well with his next case, which was that of Joe Singleton. Joe complained of pains in his head, a terrible backache and a dry throat, and the doctor said it was a case of catarrh of the stomach. He had his hand on the butt of his pistol as he looked around to see who differed with him, but nobody opposed his diagnosis. He left a powder to be given every thirty minutes, and the half dozen of us who tasted it was sure it was nothing but ginger. At the end of two days the patient was worse, and the doctor bled him and also raised a blister on the stomach and ordered the patient to drink two quarts of hot water. Nothing availed, however, and at the end of ten days Joe expired. There was no question but what the Lord had removed him in spite of all that medical science could do. There might have been, but the doctor said it was so, and he said it while toying with his gun, and it seemed best to let him have his way.

A few days later old Tom Hastings fell over the rocks and broke his collar bone. The doctor was sent for, and he felt of Tom's pulse and looked at his tongue and dallied with the collar bone, and by and by he said:

"You had a fall, but your collar bone is only bruised. What ails you is organic weakness of the heart, and if you don't do exactly as I tell you you'll be a dead man in a week."

"But he can't raise his arm, and that shows a broken collar bone," protested Tom's chum.

"Does it?" demanded the doctor as he felt for his gun. "I don't think it does. If there is any one here who wants to pick me up on my diagnosis, why?"

That was enough. He was not picked up. He dosed Tom with some of that ginger, ordered starvation diet and bled the soles of his feet to draw the blood from his heart. After four days of this treatment Tom's chum took him over the mountain to Silver City, and there a doctor fixed him up. It was all in the collar bone. The Silver City doctor didn't go back on the profession, however. He explained that, all the symptoms pointed so strongly to heart disease that it was only by luck and chance that he caught on to the collar bone.

Our doctor suffered somewhat in his reputation now and then, but he had been with us six weeks and was carrying things with a stiff hand when Pete Harper was struck by a flying stone and had his skull fractured. He was lying unconscious when the doctor arrived, and as nobody spoke of the fracture the medico felt him over and finally observed:

"This is a case of epileptic fits, and some of you hold his arms while I bleed him."

"Cuss yer fits, but he's bin hit on the head," shouted Pete's chum.

"This is a case of epileptic fits," continued the doctor as he reached for his gun, "and I am prepared to—"

So were a dozen of the miners. They raised a yell and rushed him. The first move of the doctor was to throw his gun away and the second to take to his heels, and, though he was pursued a mile, he could not be overtaken. We found about fifty blue mass pills in his satchel and distributed them around as far as they would go, and the half pound of ginger was made into tea, flavored with whisky and drunk in honor of the glorious Fourth. M. QUAD.

THE BRITISH MEDICAL INSTITUTE

Has More Physicians on Its Staff
More Capital Invested, and Effects More Cures Than Any Other Medical Firm in This Country.

78,864 Cases Cured in 5 Years.

A Branch of This Institute is Located in Newark at 100 W. Main St., Avalon Flats, Where Free Services are Given For Three Months to All Invalids Who Call Before July 14th.

Over twenty years ago forty eminent specialists of Great Britain, and America united in order that they might utilize their combined skill in curing all chronic diseases. They named their association "The British Medical Institute." It is now incorporated under the laws of the state of Michigan, with a paid up capital of $600,000. A branch office being located in Newark, at 100 W. Main street, Avalon Flats.

These eminent specialists held daily consultations for several years. Naturally each acquired much knowledge during his long experience that is not recorded in the text books. Thus each reaped the benefit of the experience of the other thirty-nine; any new discovery of value made by one of its doctors was and is immediately communicated to the others; this is why the doctors of the British Medical Institute have no peers in the successful treatment of chronic diseases; each patient practically secures the combined services of forty eminent specialists.

Male and female weakness, catarrh and catarrhal deafness, also rupture, goitre, cancer and all diseases of the rectum are positively cured by their new treatment.

During the past five years it has treated and cured 78,864 persons.

At the Newark branch, located at 100 W. Main street, Avalon Flats, it has given free services (medicines excepted) to all invalids who call during the past six months, and it will continue giving free services for the next three months to all who call before July 14th.

The chief associate surgeon is in personal charge of the Newark office. Hours 9 to 8; Sundays 10 to 1.
